Only Once

Lion '86

Only once have we come across a man so dedicated to his profession. Only once have we encountered a citizen so committed to his community. Only once has there been a coach so devoted to an athletic team. Since 1955 Ronald E. Fitzkee has been a part of the Red Lion Area School District, and this year we bid him a fond farewell. When we reminisce about our high school years, he will be a part of our thoughts . . . for Only Once . . .

Other things come your way, and each moment, each experience is different. Each one only happens once. And if you let the moment pass you by, it's gone forever.

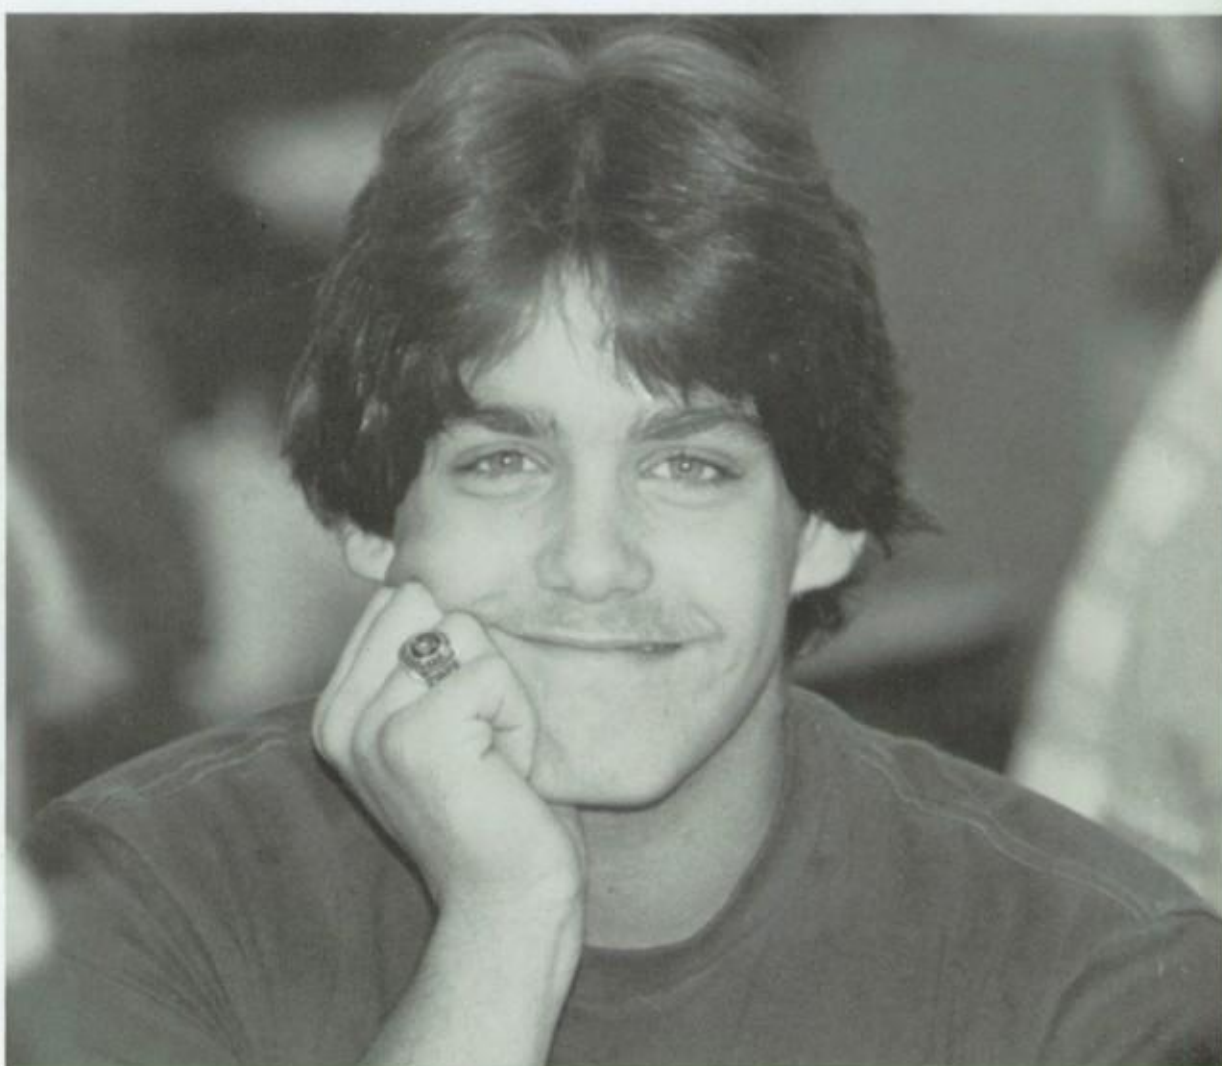

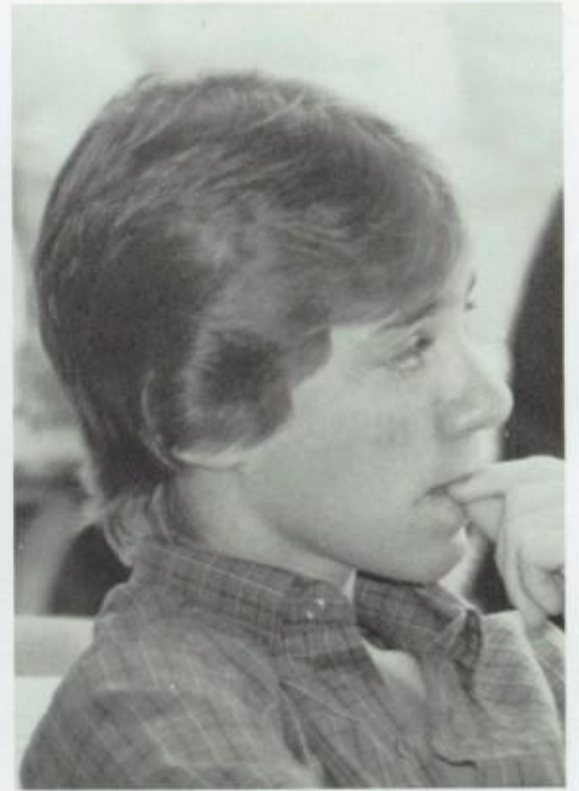

Once in a lifetime" our accumulated experiences mesh to form our common "once in a lifetime" experience.

We have come to an end.
And now we will reach for our dreams. This time we've spent together will never be forgotten. And when we say
"goodbye," we'll remember our friends and the laughs we've all shared. Make the most of this time . . . it happens Only Once.

Homecoming

FLOAT CONSTRUCTION

It was definitely an upset when the Juniors won the float construction, but all was not lost and the Seniors pulled off the spirit competition.

It's all in good fun though, and every class takes one week out of every year to construct, hopefully, the best float.

Float Construction is a tradition at Red Lion and it should be preserved for the future classes to come.

On Friday night, October 12, the four classes roared through the streets of Red Lion trailing each of their floats. The Junior class creating a big upset, captured first place in float competition. However, the Seniors came back to win the spirit competition.

Saturday afternoon, Sondra Bence was crowned 1985-86 Homecoming Queen. The mighty Lions fought hard, but the Eagles put up a tough defensive battle. Their performance contributed to an all around team effort, but we still could not "Execute the Eagles."

Only once have we been afforded this time. Only here do we choose to spend it. Only once and only here. Only Once.

We have grown. And when we leave, we take more than our books and backpacks. We also take those feelings, those ties, those experiences that have molded us into what we are.

Whether we're dressed like crayons, attired like nerds, enjoying new-found friends, watching a play or sharing holidays together, these special days and special people will become everlasting memories.

Special Events

HALLOWEEN

Date: October 20, 1985.

Time: 10:00 p.m.

Setting: Any household.

Scene: A teen-ager looking in closets, trunks in the attic, under beds, and in basements — desperately in search of a Halloween Costume.

Running throughout the house and calling to your friends, parents, and hamster for help is a yearly experience for most of us. We want to let loose for one day and become something we're not, but when the time comes, imagination fails. (at least temporarily.) These are some of the people who overcome mental adversity.

Oh, how we've grown!
Only once are we babies. As we look at these pictures, we say to ourselves "Could I have ever looked like this?" I was so small, so funny looking!" But years from now we'll sit down with our children and show them our yearbooks. Paging through, we'll look at our picture and say "Could I have ever looked like this? I was so young, so innocent!" Only once are we seniors and it is a time we shall always treasure.

NERD DAY

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

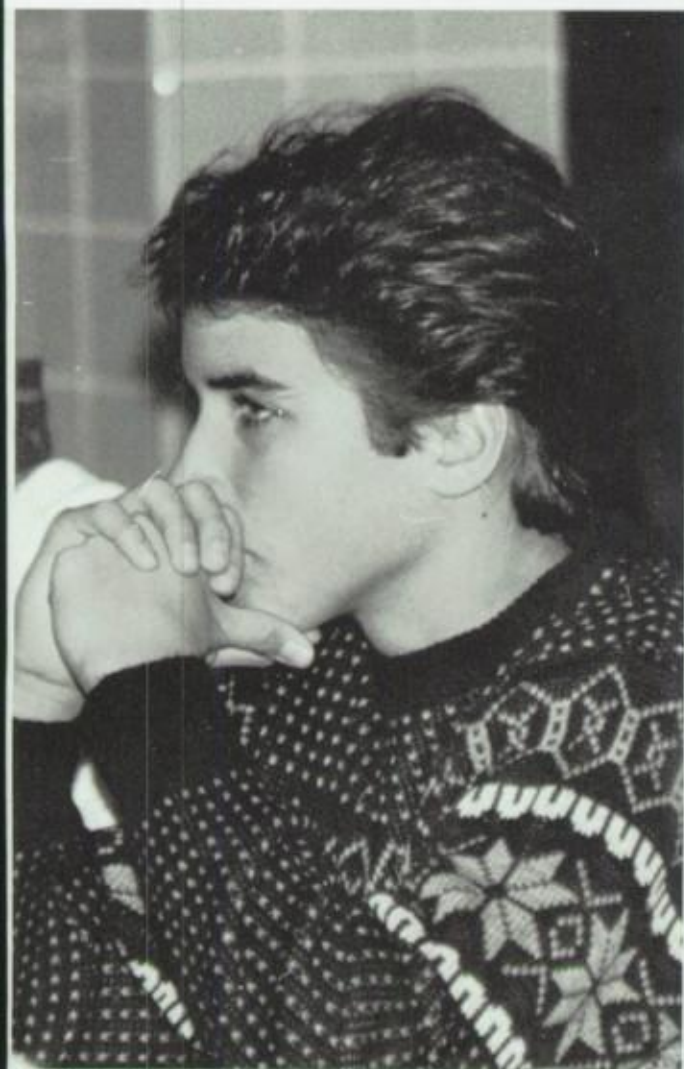

Pilgrims and Indians are not the only ones who can celebrate Thanksgiving. Our own Thanksgiving dinner showed that. A dinner complete with candles, music and student council members wandering about.

Not only are we thankful for our family, friends, and the fact that Christmas is a month away but we have three days off from school.

Hope your Thanksgiving was a happy one!!

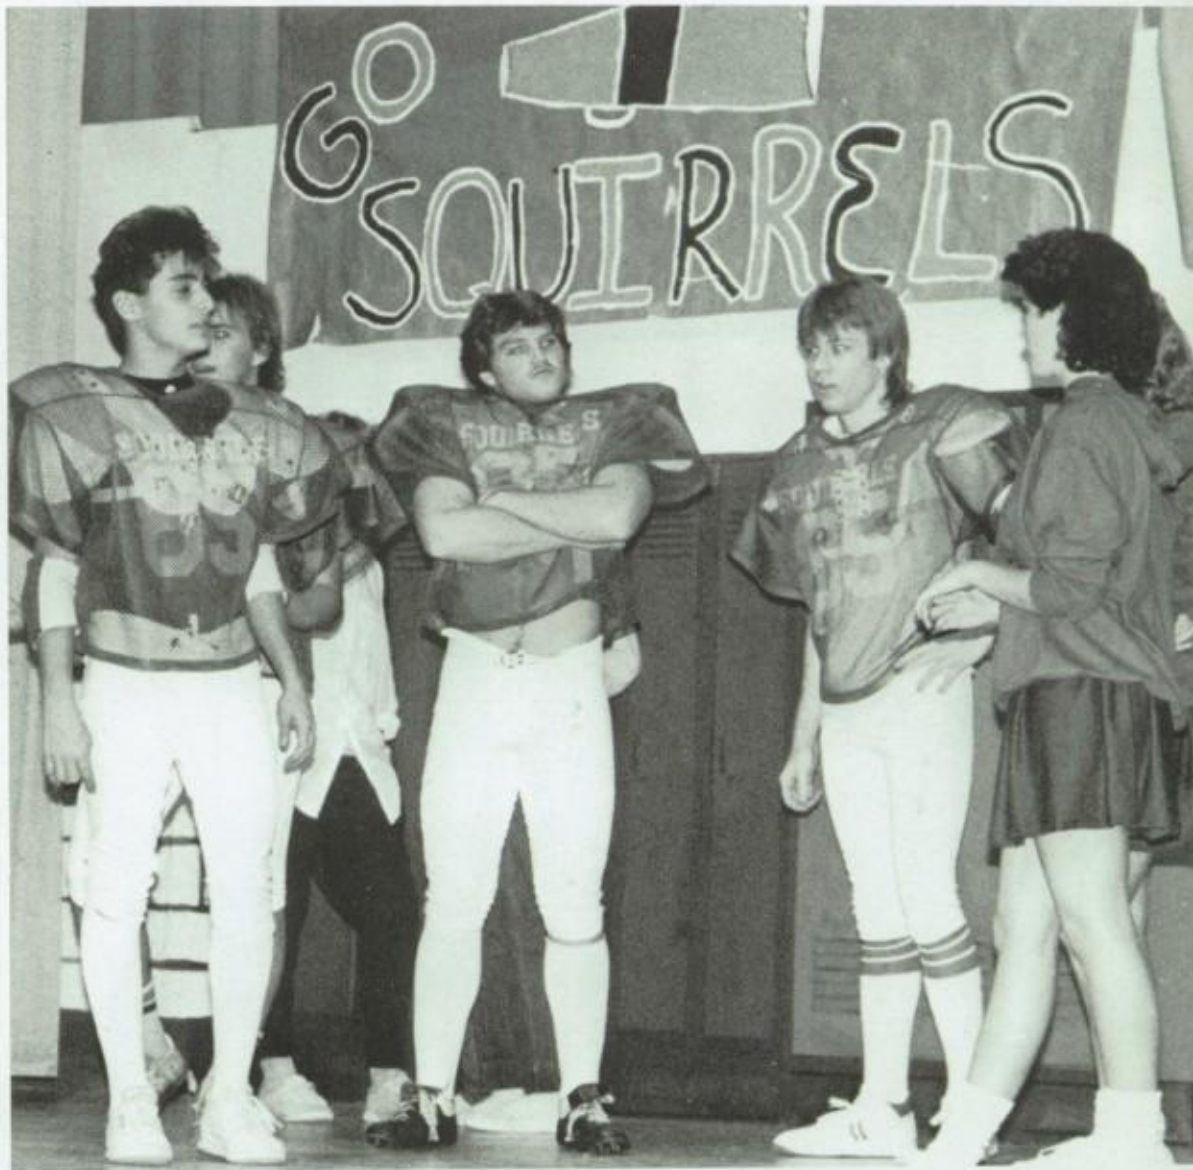

Rah!

"Just For Kicks"

On the eve of November 22, curtains rose and thirty-eight students turned actors and experienced a case of stage fright. Praying to remember their lines and not to trip over a prop overcame all other worries. Congratulations to all the Squirrels, Ann Lucius, and Miss H. "Just For Kicks" was a success. A final mention of thanks to the stage crew who are always behind the scenes but ever so important.

GO SQUIRRELS

A time of loving, sharing, receiving, giving and bringing you closer to everyone. Waking to find Santa visited and this year he brought snow.

Whether you received red and orange checkered socks or tried to convince Grandma that knitted hubcap covers is what you REALLY wanted or the stereo half the size of your room that you DID want, Christmas is a wonderful time.

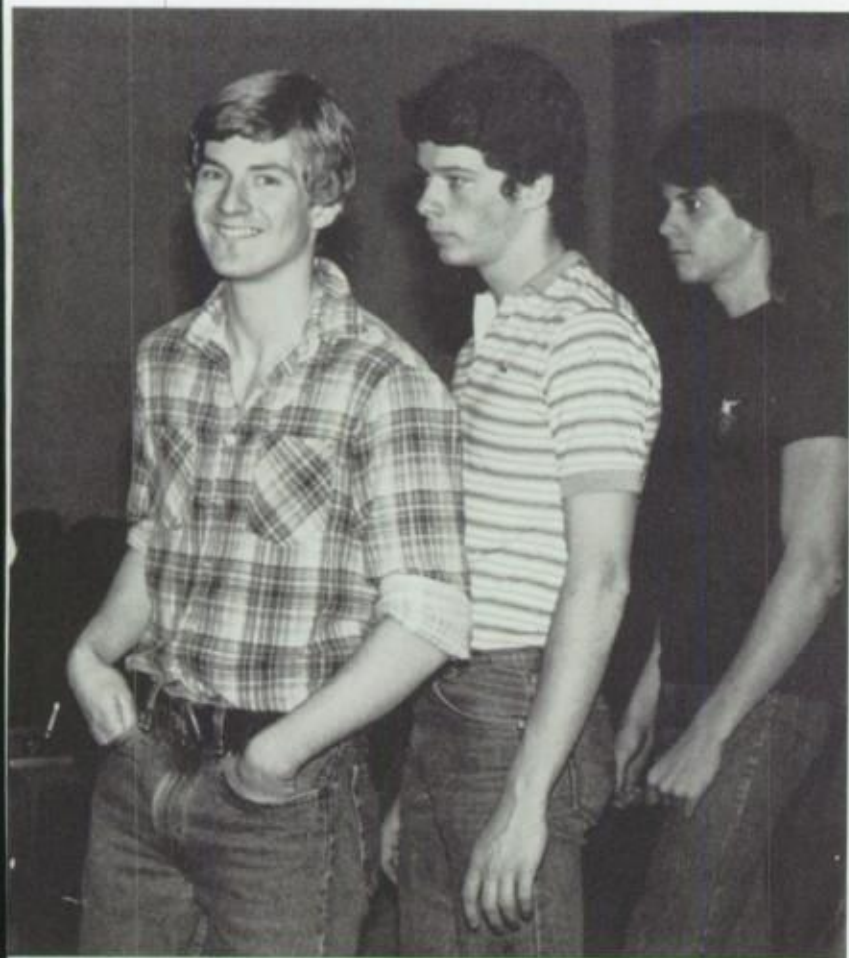

What about YOU this year?

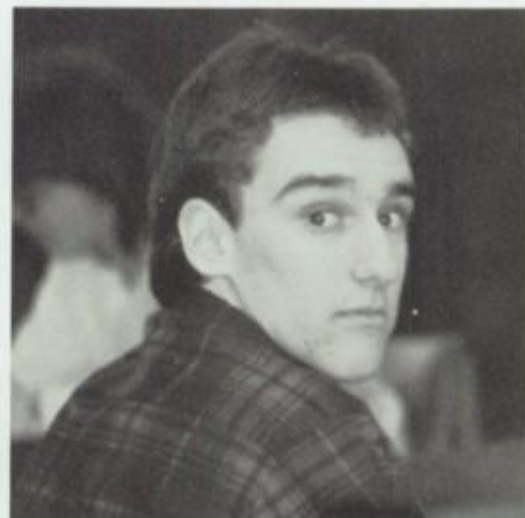

No matter where we are, we try to have fun. At basketball games, study halls, or in class, trying to break the monotony is our number one priority. We tell each other to "have fun" while taking a test and we know that swimming first period is the most fun one human can indulge in during his lifetime. Fun. Without it we go crazy and with it we get crazy.

"Don't let others hinder how you act or live your life. Just be yourself, no matter what others say. You will feel better about yourself in the future."

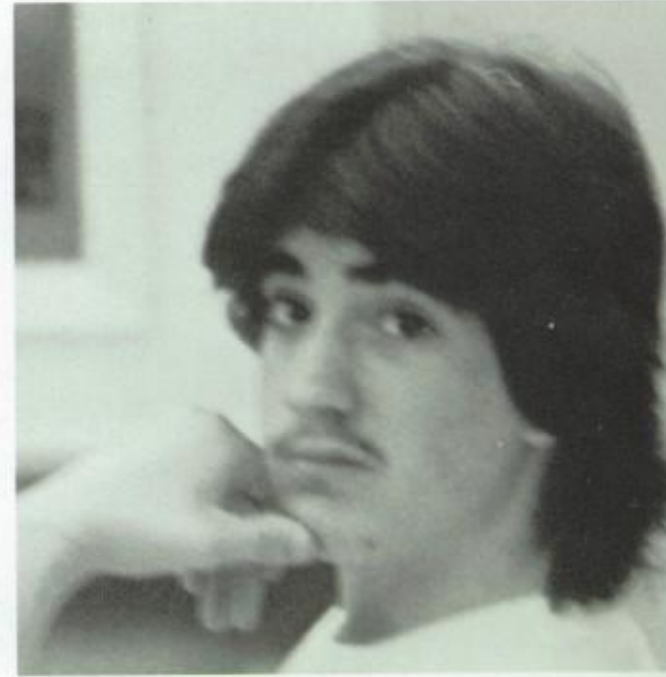

A locker. That small cubicle we use everyday, nine times a day, 1,620 times a year. Sometimes we wonder how the school expects us to put a coat, books, bags and our personal stuff in there. Don't they understand that it is essential to life to bring a pair of red high heels, box of Lucky Charms, pictures of guys and girls in scantily clad clothing, stuffed animals and photographs of friends to school and leave it all in our lockers? Nevertheless every year there are those few individuals who combat against that drab cramped space and make it their own.

They always seem to show up when we don't want them and last forever. In our minds it's still Sunday and we haven't left R.E.M. yet. On most days some hidden inner force (the ranging and raving of dearest mother perhaps) motivated us to leave our warm cozy beds for the hard cruel world of MONDAY.

FRIDAYS. Full of tests, vocab. lessons, clock watching, and of course pizza for lunch. This is what we live for all week, sometimes being the only thing keeping us awake. The feeling surrounds us and laughing fills the halls. The moment of truth is upon us, the bell rings and . . . Vamoose!!
It's time to party.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Catharina Pia Jedberger originally hails from Linkoping, Sweden but is currently residing with LeAnn Slenker. She enjoys skiing, tennis, and playing the piano. This year, Catharina has participated in our girls basketball team.

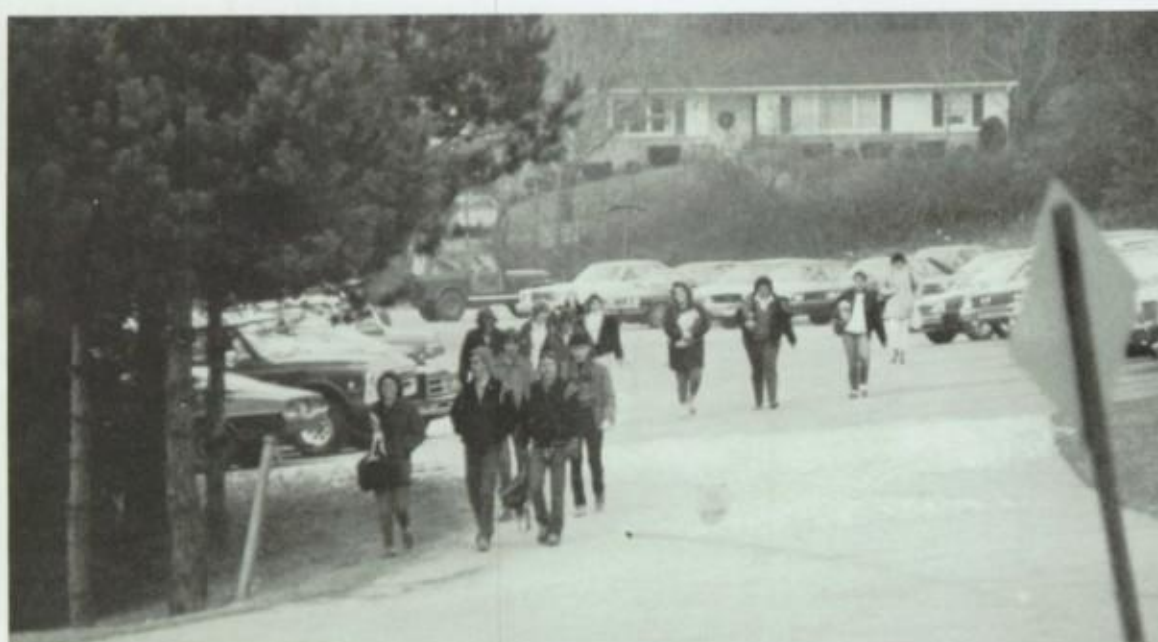

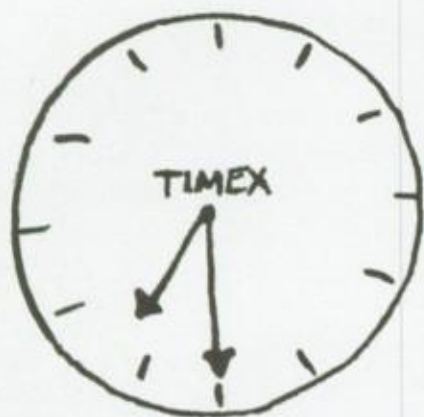

Ditte Bredahl is from Graasten, Denmark. During her visit in the U.S. she is staying with Kim Kievit. Ditte enjoys listening to music, playing her guitar, singing and gymnastics. Tennis and show choir are some of her activities while at Red Lion.

Missy Golden is hosting Lara Hayn. Lara's hometown is in Hamburg, Germany. While attending Red Lion she participates in concert choir.

We hope Catharina, Ditte and Lara have had a great year in Red Lion and may they return someday.

Whether we drive or ride the bus, coming to school is not one of our favorite past times. Life at eight o'clock in the morning was just not meant to be.

MAY 1986

This June when we seniors are sitting on Horn Field in our caps and gowns looking up at our friends and family, filled with the anticipation of receiving our diplomas and what our future holds, we will be thinking of the past four years.

In 1982 we first entered these halls, terrified that we would get lost and be late for class. Being the lowest on the totem pole wasn't easy. We were immature and everyone let us know it. Girls found the senior guys to be the best looking and guys tried to impress girls with their "knowledge" — of what I'm not quite sure. At the end of the year we left our freshmen status and moved upward to . . .

Sophomores. The forgotten class. We weren't new but still insecure. Some of us felt young and immature, others left their toys behind. Most of us settled somewhere between the two. Not quite old enough to drive but enough for Julius Caesar. Class rings were a big deal. Hours were spent deciding on white gold, birthstones and engravements. We walked around with the little red plastic rings on our fingers. Finally they arrived and everyone had to see everyone else's. Guys surrendered theirs to girls who proudly wrapped tape around the new gold and wore the ring.

As we reached our third year, we were more comfortable in our surroundings. There was one more year til we were on top. Seniors said we were too pompous. They wanted to make sure we knew our place, especially when we won the float competition at Homecoming. For the first time, the Guidance Office was used more than to pick our classes. Trips to work on the computer, look in the files or just get out of study hall lead us there. Our first bout with SAT's was made and we left with a definite drained feeling. Cars became of utmost importance. Being "sweet 16" wasn't a thrill but holding a driver's license in your hand was. We watched 1985's seniors graduate and as they threw their caps, we slowly realized what had just taken place. We transformed from callow freshmen three years ago to experienced seniors.

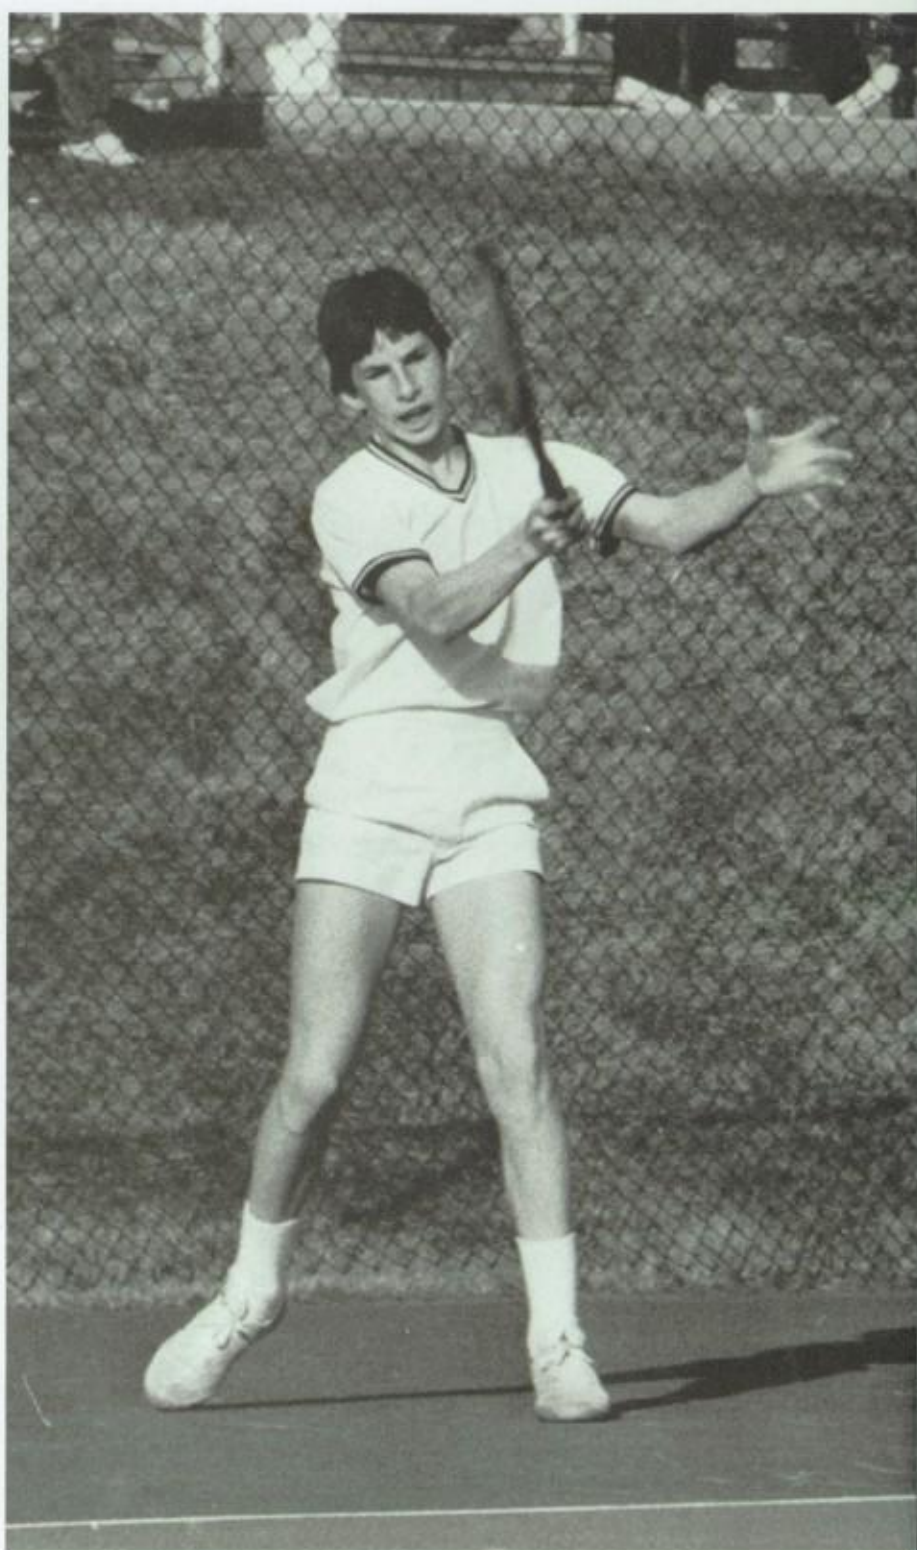

August 28, 1985. The first day of our senior year. Only 180 days stood between us and graduation. It sounds simple but we had to survive tests, maps of Africa, SAT's, teachers, waiting for colleges to answer our applications, dissecting cats, Macbeth, and gym class. If something didn't please us it was "just an illusion". We began making plans for the shore, and the countdown was on. Senior hook-off day was the same day as mid-terms (gee, was that planned?!). So we each made our own. Late arrival and early dismissal were blessings in disguise and senior "privileges" were abused. We were truly individuals yet we shared a common goal that gave us a certain closeness to each classmate. People whom you borrowed a pencil from in ninth grade asked for your senior picture. We have made many friends. They will stay friends whether you are neighbors or see each other once a year. The friends made now are forever.

Now, only a few days remain. The immediate future holds commencement, graduation "celebrations", and senior week. Farther off — college, jobs, old friends, new friends and the real world. Some of us will leave Red Lion while others persist. I want to wish you all a very prosperous future and hope to see you at our fifth year reunion.

A Fellow Classmate

Different aspects of our school careers allow for personal growth. Athletic competition challenges our minds, bodies, and sense of team spirit. We grow as individuals and as part of a group through sports.

Sports.

RICKY NELSON DIES

It'll never be the same. Old melts into new, past into present: a never ending chain causing us to plot our direction one step at a time.

It's hard to leave, even when it is time. However, we move on to tomorrow, mourning that which is past, but anticipating what is to come. It is with these garbled feelings the school year ends.

This book is intended to serve as a chronicle of R.L.A.H.S. 1986. It was a time given to us. It'll never be the same. It happened ONLY ONCE.
